New look for old Swan Pub

● New, yet still traditional — the Old White Swan, Newbold Verdon.

CELEBRATORY drinks are still flowing at Newbold Verdon's the Old White Swan.

The pub has just had a comprehensive re-vamp to the tune of £80,000 and locals can now enjoy an evening at the popular village pub in true style.

But the real beauty of the work lies in the retention of the traditional atmosphere of an Inn dating back more than 150 years.

And lovers of good, old fashioned food and fine traditional ales will find no changes to the excellent standards of hospitality extended to them by publicans June and Richard Ogden.

Traditional

They are delighted with the improvements to the Old White Swan, which include an attractive new decor, inside and out, new furniture and a complete re-fit to the kitchen area in time for Christmas.

Traditional home-made pub food prepared by resident chef, Richard Atkinson, is available seven days a week, lunch-times and evenings.

Sunday lunches are a speciality, when everybody's invited to give themselves a welcome break from the washing up and enjoy a traditional Sunday roast at the Old White Swan.

Fun

And certainly the Swan is the place to be this Christmas. The fun begins Christmas Eve when there's a fancy dress get-together and there's a regular old time music sing-along every Saturday evening.

There's also a skittle alley at the rear of the Inn — and group bookings are welcome.
