Landlord Failed To Collect Glasses

In imposing fines totalling £3 on Moses Statham, licensee of the Mill Inn, Brascote, Newbold Verdon, the chairman of Market Bosworth Magistrates' Court expressed the hope that the conviction in three cases of aiding and abetting the consumption of intoxicants after hours at the Inn would not affect Statham's licence.

Albert Poole, his wife, Florence Poole, both of Newbold Verdon, and Leonard Arthur Lord, of Narborough, were each fined £1 for consuming the drinks.

Evidence was given by Sergeant Winfield and Police Constable Foster that drinks were found on tables. It was stated that there was no question of drinks being served after hours, and the landlord merely failed to collect partly empty glasses.

Ex-Licensee Dies After Cycle Crash

MR. MOSES STATHAM, for 21 years licensee of the Mill Inn, Newbold Verdon, has died in Leicester Royal Infirmary aged 79.

Mr. Statham was involved in an accident between his cycle and a motor scooter at the junction of Main Street and Barstone Road, Newbold Verdon, last week.

Despite his age, Mr. Statham was a keen cyclist, and liked to go for a ride every day. It was while he was taking an evening ride to a friend's house the accident occurred.

First a miner, and then a farmer, Mr. Statham became a publican in 1930 and retired after 21 years at the Mill Inn.

He leaves a wife and a son, Eric.

MR. A. J. CLEMENTS, of Ratby-road, Groby, manager of Groby Granite Co., and Miss H. M. S. Starbuck, of the George and Dragon, Newbold Verdon, after their wedding at St. James' Church, Newbold Verdon.

Injured Child Carried Into Court

An eight-year-old Newbold Verdon girl, with both her legs in plaster, was carried into Court and placed on a couch during a case in which Arthur M. Slade, of Carlton, pleaded guilty to driving a motor bus carelessly.

Mr. A. H. Headley, prosecuting, said the child, Kathleen Twigg, was pinned against a gatepost when the bus went on to the wrong side of the road.

Slade pleaded an error of judgment. He was fined £7, and ordered to pay £2 2s. advocate's fee and 10s. costs.
